Grupa Azoty at the 2015 Nitrogen & Syngas conference

The Nitrogen & Syngas conference is the industry's leading technical event, providing a platform for sharing information on recent market trends, innovations and investment projects. Grupa Azoty will again be among the exhibitors participating in the event.

Sharing professional experience and remaining open to innovation and global trends is crucial in the chemical industry as it facilitates conscious technological development and provides insight into the competitive environment. With this in mind, Grupa Azoty will attend what is the most prestigious technical conference in the nitrogen industry for the fourth time, promoting its ammonia and synthesis gas catalysts. The Company's presence at the conference this year has particular importance given the Management Board's decision to pursue an investment project to construct a new iron-chromium catalyst unit in Tarnów.

The Nitrogen & Syngas conference is held annually. Last year's edition, held in Paris, attracted a record attendance, with over 630 participants from more than 50 countries present. This year, the event will be taking place in Istanbul from February 23rd to February 26th.
